Truman College is recruiting Men of Color to complete coursework towards professions in Early Childhood Education (ECE).

The Men of Color in Early Childhood Education Program Story

Better Serving our Communities

Strong communities are built on the strength of their supports to their children. Children look to their teachers as models of who they can grow to be. Currently, male children of color have limited examples that show them that they can grow up to be leaders. Only 6% of teachers are black and male. In Preschool and Kindergarten, only 2% of teachers are male. Truman College is recruiting Men of Color into our Early Childhood Education programs and providing them with the wrap-around support they need to be ECE Professionals.
